ch Mint Bill-The Treaty between Engnd and Spain for the Suppression of the Slave Trade-Interesting Exposé.

The defeat of the New-York branch mint in the House, continues the theme of conversation among our politicians. The New-York delegation are bitter towards the representatives from Penn-sylvania, on account of their laying the matte rout straight, and killing it without the benefit of clergy. me of them vow they will be revenged on Phila. delphia for the part Mr. Chandler took in the matter.

Information has recently been received here from England, by which I learn that some parties here have I fted the curtain which concealed the mixed commission in Havana, established by Spain and Great Britain, in pursuance of the treaty for the from beginning to end, is a humbug of the rankest Mr. James Kennedy, the British judge under the commission, resides four miles out of the city of Havana, and spends his time in writing doggerel poetry for converting good Spanish poetry into English nonsense. He has held the office of judge for thirteen years, at a salary of sixteen hundred pounds sterling a year. Previous to his appointment he was a member of Parliament for the borough of Tiverton, from which he retired to make room for Lord Paimerston; and, ne doubt to his own astonishment, he was appointed to the office of judge in the court in Havana, with houserent and other expenses paid, and nothing to do. Now mark the humbug of this commission. It is notorious that a vast number of slaves are annually imported into Cuba, notwithstanding the treaty and the existence of the mixed commission, and the appointment of Mr. Kennedy as juige. That ntleman is stationed in Havana, at which place a slaver has not been adjudicated upon for the last nine years. They do not go into Havana with their living cargoes, but into other ports where they are not troubled by the mixed commission, Mr. Kennedy, the judge, or any one else. In formation has been received, which places it beyond doubt, that within the last year, some twelve wessels from the coast of Africa, laden with slaves from Africa, have run into different ports in Cuba and landed their cargoes without any interruption; and that three or four other vessels, now in port, are secretly preparing for similar expeditions. Mr. Kennedy enjoys no social or any other position in Cuba. He is hardly recognized by the Captain General. He lives within a hurdred pounds a year; sees nobody, and nobody visits him; and having nothing to do, he spends his time as I have already stated, in converting good Spanish poetry into English doggerel.

Could anything be more transparent than this humbug-this gross deception on the people of England, and of the whole world? This is a specimen of the philanthropy of the British govern-ment towards the unfortunate African, and the manner in which it attempts to put down the slave

If the honest intention of the parties to this treaty, at the time when they entered into it, was to stop the slave trade, they deserve the censure of the whole world for allowing the treaty not only to become inoperative and obsolete, but for allowing the mixed commission, as it is called, to degenerate into a farce, and permitting the office of judge to become a sinecure. It is beyond all question—in fact, it is notorious, that for several years past, a very extensive trade in the importation of negroes, has been carried on by the island of Cuba with Africa, in violation of the treaty between Spein and Great Britain; and that the Spanish authorities in Cuba have winked and connived at it. Indeed, it has been openly asserted, that the late Captain General—the Count de Alcoy—received a per centage of the profits of human traffic—a commission on every slave imported into the island. This is a specimen of the meana-resorted to by the officials of Cuba to become rich. A negro costs, in Africa, from thirty-five to forty doilars, and as soon as he is landed in Cuba, he can be readily disposed of for from four hundred and fifty to six hundred doilars. The parties engaged in the traffic can, it will be seen, very well afford to pay a hundred or a fundred and fifty dollars to the authorities on every negro whom they bring there, to purchase impunity.

During all this time, and while this traffic is going if the honest intention of the parties to this trea-

During all this time, and while this traffic is going on, in open day, and with the connivance of the Spanish authorities, the celebrated mixed commission is sitting in Hayana, waiting for cases to be brought before it, on which to adjudicate. The value of this commission, and the service which it has rendered in abolishing the slave trade, may be estimated by the fact, that for nine years past it has not sat on a single case of infraction of treaty between Spain and England, while thousands of newers are imported into Cuba annually, from the grees are imported into Cuba annually, from the coast of Africa. It seems to be an understood ar-rangement, that if the mixed commission take no notice of slavers trading between Africa and ports of Cuba, other than Havana, they will not interconcluded upon between the mixed commission and the slavers, the suspicion that such is the case will be entertained by all who are familiar with the manner in which the judges discharge the duties of their office. It really seems as if the British judge was placed in Havana at a salary of sixteen hundred pounds sterling a year, not for the purpose of stopping the slave trade, but for the object of encouraging it, under the auspices of the British and Susanish rovernments.

Spriish and Spanish governments.

There is an immense deal of double dealing, chicanery, and downright humbug connected with Great Britain's ostensible efforts to put an end to If she was honestin entering into the slave trade. the treaty with Spain, why does she not enforce the treaty with Spain, why does she not enforce the She has the power to do as. Why convert is into a farce; and, under the pretence of sholishing the abominable traffic, encourage it, by appointing a judge, whose office is a sinecure, and whose attention is devoted to writing bad poetry and worse Spanish?

The Senatorial Supper in Rhode Island — Several hundred of the friends of our new Senator, General James, including His Excellency the Governor, and the members of the Assembly, waited upon hun at his mansion on High street, on Tuesday evening, by invitation, and passed a few hours very pleasantly. The gentlemen present represented all the political parties in our State, but appeared to feel none of the political restrains recognized in other walks of life, in their interchange of social civilities. The new Senator bore himself cognized in other walks of life, in their interchange of social civilities. The new Senator bore himself most gallantly, and was highly complimented by political opponents, as well as friends, who made him the subject of remark. At nine o'clock an elegant and substantial supper was offered to the guests, and the remainder of the evening was spent in supplying inner wants, and in offering and listening to sentiments of congratulation and friendship.—Providence Post, Feb. 5.

Fxn. 10.—John McLoughin vs. Jones E. Wood.—This case was tried a lew months ago, when the jury did not agre. It was an action for faise arrest. The plaintiff is a dealer in newspapers, the defendant is an ex Alderman. The complaint is, that defendant is an ex Alderman. The complaint is, that defendant faisely arrest, ed plaintiff. The defendant asserts that he saw the plaintiff strike a boy a blow on the head with a bundle of newspapers in the public streets, when, for the preservation of the peace, he interfered. McLaughlin contends that the boy was his nephew, and in his empire, and that he had a right to chastise him for an act of disobedience. Bealed verdict.

Court of Inquire v.—A court of inquiry was recently held at Brochlyn to inquire into certain charges, preferred by Captain Luce, of the steamship Arctic, against passed midshipman G. H. Bier, United States Navy, and third dieser of that vessel. The court gave a unaximous decision—first, that passed midshipman Bier was not guilty of neglect of duty in leaving the deck whilst on duty; secondly, that he was not guilty of running the ship off her course. The sentence concludes by saying that the conduct of all the naval officers of the Arctic was correct and proper.

Court Mastrat.—The defence of Commander Maraton was made by his course! Josiah Randall, Esq. of Philadelphia better the Naval Court Martial sitting on beard the Pennsylvania, on Wednesday. The proceedings in the case were closed on Friday, and were transmitted to the Navy Department.

The Court then proceeded with the case of one of the crew of the Verktown charged with disobeliance of orders and mutinous conduct after the less of that ship.

Commodore Sloat, who has been on business Washington for some time arrived at the Nor navy yard on Friday, in the Baltimore steamer. The U. S. ship Plymouth. Com'r Gedney, was at the Norf Ik navy yard on the 7th, discharging and disman tiles.

The U. s steamer Engineer arrived at Norfolk on Saturday from Baitimore with a draft of seamen. She was to leave in the evaning for Washington for the purpose jed towing to this yard the U. S. steamer Ali-ghany. She made the attempt last week but was pre-vented by the ice in the Potomac—not being able to proceed further than Aquia Greek.

For. 10th — Pleaded Guilty to stealing a Wagon — A man named Henry Zell, pleaded guilty to grand largeny in stealing a burse and wagon worth $50 from John H. Smyth, on the ith of November last. The prisoner was condemned to serve two years in the alast prison at Hing Sing.

Charge of Burglary and Grand Largeny — A young man Patrick Bracken, was placed on trial, charged with burglary and grand largeny, in breaking into the store of Mears. Wailer & Krepe, looking glass and piecure frame makers, corner of Broadway and Catharine Large on the 12th of December. It appeared from the testimony of the private watchman of Mears Wailer & Krepe, that on the night in question he discovered, in going through the building, that an overcost had been carried off, and two decks had been broken open On Mr. Wailer arriving at the store the next morning, he discovered that his private desk, as well as that belonging to the counterfeit or otherwise bad bank bills several paid cheeks, and two promissory notes had been carried off. On one of the notes, (which was for $120, and past due) there remained $30 yet to be paid; the other note was worthless. A day or two after the robbery, the prisoner, who was in the employ of W. & K., was arrested at the circus in the Bowery, for passing counterfeit bill. On being searched, the motes and cheeks were found upon his person. Mr. Wailer was now sent for, who at once recognized the prisoner, and the property which had been taken from his store. The hurglary was not proven against the prisoner, and the property which had been taken from his store. The hurglary was not proven against the prisoner, and the property which had been taken from his store. Charged with Stealing Cleshing and Recenting Stolen Goods.—A young German named Heary Bornsmann was placed at the bar, charged with grand larceny and receiving stolen goods. The prisoner is impleaded with another German, named Christian Grets; but having claimed to be trief alone a severance was male, and he was placed on his defence. Jacob Acker testified that he arrested the prisoner on the 6th of December in the house of Mr. William B. Astor, in Latayette place two nights before the boase of Mr. Augustus Kimmell. No. 122 First avenue had been felonically entered, and robbed of about $400 worth of clothing, jewelry, sto 8 On the person of the prisoner was found a cravat which Mr. Kimmell swore belonged to him. On the part of the defence a female witness was produced who swore positively that the saw the cravat given into the possession of the prisoner, at a porter house somewhere in Howard street. The prosocution brought a witness to prove that this woman was a disreputable person, and that the kept a house of ill fame in Centre street. Nevertheless, her veracity was not impeached, and the jury found the prisoner not guilty. He did not even the however, but was remanded to prison, to answer te another charge of isroeny.
